Description

Our company is providing research-grade monitoring solutions for the agriculture, forestry, fisheries,.. With our data loggers you can have remote control from the field. You can also set alarms and get notified on your mobile device or website. It also enables you to react quickly and efficiently. Sometimes just a few hours window can save you from frost damages.

We are also providing monitoring solutions during transport of your crops from the field to the customers.

Our main goal is to provide the best possible solution for your monitoring needs. We want to be the bridge between the needs of our customers and manufacturers who are there to make your measurements as accurate and reliable as possible.
