Description

Brejatech is research and development oriented company. We developed the Poya solution. It consists of several sensors integrated into a collar which monitor a dairy cow`s activity. Incoming data and subsequently produced information are available for viewing in real time. Users of the Poya solution are notified in case of any deviation from normal values with an alarm signal via e-mail or dashboard notification. This way the farmer detects potential signs of illness or the "heat" time for his dairy cow easier and on time.
